Day 6 - Saturday 27 Jun 2026: Journey through the history of Phnom Penh

Nestled on the banks of the Tonle Sap and Mekong Rivers, Phnom Penh, with its 1.5 million residents, stands as Cambodia's enduring capital, a legacy of French colonial influence. In its heyday, this city earned the moniker "Pearl of Asia," celebrated as one of the most enchanting French-built urban centers in Indochina. As the sun bathes the streets in soft morning light, embark on a full day's journey to uncover the rich tapestry of this city, a harmonious blend of Khmer heritage and colonial elegance.

Begin your day at Wat Phnom, where the legend of Lady Penh, the city's visionary founder, comes to life. Next, venture into the Royal Palace, a regal testament to Khmer architecture. Dive into Cambodia's past at the National Museum, an architectural jewel with roots in Khmer design, designed by a French archaeologist and painter in 1917. Here, the annals of Khmer art and sculptures across different epochs of Cambodian history await your discovery.

After a morning of cultural immersion, savor a delightful lunch at a local eatery. In the afternoon, delve into the darker chapters of Cambodia's history, a somber journey through the Khmer Rouge era. Your first stop is Tuol Sleng, a former high school turned harrowing interrogation prison, bearing the grim moniker S-21 during the Khmer Rouge reign. Now a poignant genocide museum, its chilling corridors whisper the stories of countless souls who suffered within these walls. A short drive takes you to Cheung Ek, a sprawling memorial that commemorates the 17,000 victims of Khmer Rouge leader Pol Pot, immortalized in the film "The Killing Fields." Though these visits serve as haunting reminders of a harrowing past, they also shed light on the indomitable spirit of the Cambodian people as they persevered and rebuilt their nation.
